Supporting and Understanding
Your Client's
Language, Cultural and Care Needs

GOCSA's Greek Speaking Community Support Workers can

- Enhance the quality of your Agency's service provision.
- Communicate in your client's preferred language.
- Respond to the cultural needs of your client.
- Work together with your Agency to provide the appropriate care and support that your client needs.

GOCSA Philosophy

GOCSA believes that to enhance quality of life:

- Suitable and adequate care should be available to all people according to their needs without discrimination.
- Everybody should have access to opportunities to develop, grow and learn in a safe, caring and stimulating environment.
- A concerted effort should be made to work in close co-operation and partnership with individuals, families, other services providers, non-government and government agencies and the community.

Need for Greek Speaking Community Support Workers

Greek speaking Community Support Workers can play a significant role in enhancing the quality of your agency's service provision.

Greek speaking Community Support Workers are preferred by most Greek elderly and their families because of the ease of communication that a common language base and cultural background can bring.

As many Greek elderly may develop forms of dementia, and as most revert to the use of their original language as they age, Greek speaking Community Support Workers are an even more important care option.

GOCSA Community Care Services can:

- Assist you to strengthen your knowledge of available resources (e.g. translated Greek material).
- Explore culturally sensitive care models and strategies.
- Suggest a broad range of suitable activities for your clients and how to develop them.

Personal Care

Personal care includes assistance with personal hygiene, washing or showering, dressing and personal grooming.

Respite Care

In – home Respite Care is care given as an alternative arrangement with the primary purpose of giving the carer or care recipient a short-term break from their other usual care arrangements.

Domestic Assistance

Domestic Assistance includes assistance with cleaning, dish washing, laundry and ironing, shopping and bill paying.
